

OLD CHIEF VICENTE FALLS VICTIM TO PNEUMONIA

PICTURESQUE NAVAJO ONE OF BEST KNOWN OF HIS TRIBE

A telegram to the Morning Journal last night from Thoreau brought the news of the death of Chief Vicente of the Navajos, one of the most picturesque and well known of the chiefs of that tribe. Vicente was a familiar figure in Albuquerque and his many admirers here will regret to hear of his death.

Pneumonia was the cause of the chief's passing. He was about sixty years of age, of great stature and a splendid type of Indian manhood. Vicente, who was known as a sectional chief of the Navajos, lived about forty miles north of Gallup, and was unusually wealthy as Indians go, through the profits of raising sheep. While he did not speak a word of English he was an Indian of great penetration, intellect and modern ideas, and one of the brightest men in the tribe. He was a peaceful disposition and of high repute among the Navajos.

Was Ambitious to Ride Bike. Adolfo Veljez, residing in Barrios, and possessed of an ambition to ride a bicycle, came to grief last night through a double yielding to temptation. Veljez yielded first to the temptation of very bad booze. Then he yielded to his desire to ride a bicycle. The wheel did not belong to him and the bike was evidently not on good terms with him, since there was an evident struggle to effect a separation. Veljez took the first wheel that came in sight and started to ride to Barrios. Far down on South Second street Adolfo spun a huge bulk looping up in the immediate foreground. He thought it was a box car and tried to dodge, thereby effecting a striking connection with an adjacent telephone pole. The obstruction proved to be an officer, George Hightberger, who dragged Veljez in one hand and the bicycle in the other to the bastille. Both are in need of repairs.

Funeral of John G. Brand. The funeral of the late John G. Brand, aged 23 years, who died Sunday at noon was held yesterday morning from the chapel of A. Borders, interment being in the Fairview cemetery. Rev. Hugh A. Cooper conducted the services. The deceased had been in Albuquerque only one week at the time of his death, coming here with his sister from Florence, Oregon. He had rooms in the Highlands.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

A. B. McGaffey returned to the city last night from a trip to New York, where he went on business.

Ralph H. Johnson, of Cleveland, Ohio, son of W. P. Johnson, of the American Lumber company, arrived in the city last night and will remain here for a few weeks to visit his father and friends.

The Albuquerque Elks are holding rehearsals each evening for the big minstrel show which occurs early in January. The end goal, twelve in number show many new faces and the songs, gags and local hits are all of the funniest imaginable. Several good songs on local topics have been written for the occasion and that the show is under the direction of Arthur L. Cavanaugh, is sufficient guarantee that it will eclipse all previous efforts ever attempted by amateurs here.

Paulino Montoya, a well known native rhapsodian, left yesterday afternoon for his home in Cuba in the Naclemento country, after a business visit in Albuquerque.

Traveling Freight Agent for the Santa Fe in New Mexico, C. W. Cook returned yesterday morning from southern New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Davis are in the city from Estancia.

Ruskin's Bull. The late Elms Yarnall of Philadelphia was a brilliant talker, a sympathetic listener and a subtle literary critic. Here he had many friends among them in the past, were Paul Longfellow, Emerson, Matthew Arnold and John Ruskin.

At the Union League one afternoon Mr. Yarnall repeated a bull he had once heard Ruskin make.

"In his impassioned way," said Mr. Yarnall, "Ruskin was railing against our chess and tawdry and flimsy modern buildings, comparing them with the beautiful and massive buildings of the east."

"Modern buildings won't endure," he cried, "where will you find our modern building that has lasted as long as the ancient ones?"—New York Tribune.

The Taking Cold Habit

MR. RICE SAYS THE GLOBE STORE IS RUSHED WITH BUSINESS

"The Globe Store is doing a bigger business this week than we ever hoped for," said Manager Otto Rice of that establishment yesterday to the Journal reporter. "We're simply up to our ears in business and the Christmas rush is on in real earnest. We expected a big trade this week, of course, and made preparations for it by laying in a magnificent stock, but it has eclipsed our expectations. The Christmas business doesn't seem to run to any particular line, but people want presents of every kind under the sun, from neckties to trunks and from socks to trimmed hats. And if I do say it myself we are carrying a stock this season that will just about satisfy all demands and everything is of the very highest grade and best material. We have demonstrated to our own satisfaction that if you have what the people want the people will buy it. And it's a pleasure to wait on people when you have nice things to show them and can honestly tell your customers that they can't find anything better in the city. The shoppers this season don't have plenty of money and don't need much urging to spend it. The Globe Store is doing a splendid business and it is increasing every day, if anyone should happen to ask you, and I believe it is very largely the result of constant advertising."

EXPERT MONEY ORDER RAISER IN THE TOILS

E. Vernon Briscoe Arrested and Charged With Crime.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The postoffice department has been advised of the arrest in Chicago of E. Vernon Briscoe, alleged to belong to the gang of money order raisers that is being run to earth by the postoffice inspectors. Vernon, according to evidence in the hands of the postal officials, had a novel scheme of defrauding. He was a clerk in the money order department of the State of Philadelphia, and by manipulating the orders and filling in the address with one amount and the order with another amount he succeeded in getting about $300 from the Washington office for an order which originally represented about 35 cents.

Other cases are charged against Briscoe. He is a young man, with an intelligent and pleasing face. He left Chicago at once for this city, where he will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Anson S. Taylor.

In this connection it was learned that the postal officials have fastened half a dozen more instances of raising money orders and uttering them upon James A. Backus, alias Burke, alias Cameron, who was arrested at the Penning track by Postoffice Inspector Little two weeks ago for defrauding Lambuth & Bro., out of $50. The latter was charged with the crime.

Women Chase Dog Catcher. Reno, Nev., Dec. 18.—A band of irate women armed with a rope, pursued D. W. Scales, Reno's official dog catcher, through the streets today, with the avowed intention of strapping him up to the nearest pole if they caught him. The dog catcher precipitately fled and finally succeeded in making his escape by playing the truckee river between himself and his feminine pursuers.

The women represented the select society of Reno, and were engaged in playing five hundred at a private social event, when Scales suddenly entered the yard and proceeded to walk away to the city pound with a canine belonging to one of the women. The chase immediately started and Scales was pelted with rocks and clubs and was roughly abused by the women in the feminine vocabulary.

Scales released the dog, but this did not allay the anger of his fair pursuers and he was forced to cross the river.

Theodore, Jr., Gets Game. Washington, Dec. 18.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was a proud boy yesterday when the spoils of his hunt in the Corbin park in New Hampshire arrived at the White House, and he could show to his father the carcasses of a 530-pound elk and of a young wild bear slain by his own rifle in the wilds of the Granite state last week.

They arrived at the executive mansion by express and were immediately conveyed to the familyarder.

A Matter of Change. Justice Brewer, of the supreme court, has a story of the days when a certain lawyer, now well known at the bar of Chicago, was having anything but an easy time endeavoring to win recognition in his profession.

One day a well-to-do farmer in need of legal advice sought the struggling attorney with reference to a suit he desired to bring against a neighbor. The lawyer looked up the statutes and advised his client what course to pursue. As the latter rose to leave the office he asked, "How much?"

"Oh, say three dollars," carelessly responded the lawyer.

Whereupon the client produced a five-dollar bill. The lawyer appeared embarrassed. He carefully searched his pockets and the drawers of his desk without finding the necessary change. Finally he met the exigency by pocketing the bill and observing as he reached for a digest:

"It would seem, Mr. Blank, that I shall have to give you two dollars' more worth of advice."—Harper's Weekly.
